

We started off a bit slow hence the actual burndown progress was a bit slower than the actual progress. This was due to the team members being busy due to exam season. However on the final day we covered up all the work and were able to complete the sprint.